

The Miracle Question

"Suppose tonight you go to bed and go to sleep as usual. And during the night, a miracle happens. And the problem vanishes. And the issues that concern you are resolved, but you're still asleep. Therefore, you don't know that the miracle has happened. When you wake up tomorrow, what will be the first things that will tell you that the miracle has happened? How will you know that the transformation has occurred?"

- How will you know the miracle happened?
- What will be the first thing you notice that would tell you that a miracle occurred?
- What else would tell you that things are different?
- What might others see that would tell them that the miracle has happened?

<https://www.universalcoachinstitute.com/miracle-question/>